Dear Ones,

Will the winter ever let go of Northeast Missouri? I woke Sunday morning thinking welcome to the end of March in Northeast Ohio! Living in Missouri for well over a decade, I've nearly forgotten how late in the year it can snow around the South shores of Lake Erie.

Some of my memories of lingering winter take me to Easter Sundays as a little boy. Mom would take me to "sunrise services" at Kingwood Center. It was a beautiful place with all the color of spring flowers beginning to come through the cold ground. I recall setting outside in the dark on metal chairs. I think had I stuck my tongue against one, it would have frozen in place!

I smile about the memories of those days, but I rejoice these days knowing the significance of those services! Why would people gather in the cold and the dark moments before the dawn? Ever since that first Sunday morning that Jesus Christ rose from the dead, followers of Jesus have gathered every Sunday morning in celebration of His resurrection.

I do hope you will join your church family on Sunday morning to continue the celebration!

Lord Bless,
*Preacher Jack
